The Board of Trustees or other governing board of any school district of any type or designation which is not included in or part of a junior college district which contains territory in or is wholly situated in any county which contains territory of any public junior college of the type or classification designated in Section 1 of this Act is authorized and empowered to enter into agreements with the governing board of such junior college district for the purposes and in the manner set out in Section 1 of this Act, provided that any such agreement made on behalf of any school district classed as a common school district must be approved by the county superintendent or ex officio county superintendent of the county having administrative supervision of such school district before such agreement shall be binding on such school district. No funds of any school district shall be used for payment of any charges or expenses under agreements authorized by this or the preceding Section except funds raised by taxes expressly and specifically authorized for such purposes at an election in such school district at which only qualified voters who own taxable property therein and who have duly rendered same for taxation are permitted to vote.

Section 3. The commissioners court for the common school districts in the county, and the district school trustees for the independent school districts incorporated for school purposes only, and the trustees of the rural high school districts and the trustees of all other school districts shall have the power to levy and cause to be collected in addition to all other taxes authorized by law an additional annual ad valorem tax not to exceed Twenty-five Cents (25¢) on the One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) valuation of taxable property in the district for the purpose of financing agreements with the governing board of a public junior college district under the authority of the provisions of the preceding Sections of this Act, subject to the following provisions:

(1) No such tax shall be levied, collected, abrogated, diminished or increased hereunder until such action has been authorized by a majority of the votes cast at an election held in the district for such purposes, at which none but property taxpaying qualified voters of such district shall be entitled to vote, which election shall be held in accordance with the provisions of Article 2785, Revised Civil Statutes of 1925, as amended.

(2) The proceeds of such tax shall be used for the purpose of paying the public junior college district with which any of the agreements authorized by this Act may have been made for services rendered by such public junior college under the terms of any such agreements, and for such purposes only.

Section 4. If any part of this Act is declared to be invalid or unconstitutional by any court of competent jurisdiction the remainder of the Act shall not be invalidated thereby.

Section 5. The fact that there is now no law authorizing public junior college districts to enter into agreements to provide junior college facilities and services to adjacent school districts or authorizing such school districts to levy, assess and collect taxes to pay for such services constitutes an emergency and an imperative public necessity that the Constitutional Rule requiring bills to be read in each House on three separate days be suspended, and such Rule is hereby suspended, and that this Act shall take effect and be in force as provided herein from and after its passage, and it is so enacted.

United States Senate,
Washington, D. C.
April 18, 1967.

Honorable Dorsey B. Hardeman,
The Senate of the State of Texas,
Austin, Texas.

Dear Senator Hardeman:

Your letter and the copy of Senate Resolution No. 271 from the Texas legislature are deeply appreciated. Nebraskans are pleased by the recognition given them by your esteemed legislature of Texas in connection with the centennial celebration of our Nebraska statehood.

Nebraskans always have felt close to Texas, probably because the two states are similar in agricultural background, sharing especially in the development of the livestock industry from the early days when there were still Indians roaming the plains. The people of our two states are very much alike in the individualism they possess and display, and in their zeal for freedom.

I especially want to commend you for the detailed research that went into your resolution. The facts are interesting, and the text is well written. I want to thank you in behalf of my colleagues from Nebraska in Congress and all the citizens of Nebraska.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Sincerely yours,
CARL T. CURTIS, USS
